

Mr. Bott desires to be affectionately remembered to you, Mrs. Taylor and to all our friends. Accept our sincere thanks, and most affectionate regards and while you continue to pray for us, we hope by the grace of God to show ourselves worthy of the character we sustain, as Methodist Missionary.

Yours most sincerely
A. S. Hall

[Large stylized signature]

Rev. J. Taylor
Wells on N. H. House
of Mr. W. W. Gardner

RECEIVED
MAY 11 1841

Madison 27 March 1841 - Forwarded
by your humble servant
A. S. Hall

1841
March 27
A. S. Hall

Det. 20th March 1841
Wells on N. H. House
of Mr. W. W. Gardner

He was carried by about 8 of the priests. He was in a reclining posture, clothed with a humble robe and seemed to sink with the weight of his grief. When he approached all the people fell on their knees, and continued in that position until the rest of the priests who were clothed in white, and who also carried lighted torches - had passed. Then they music commenced, the choir sang, and in this manner they walked along the streets. As we returned to the ship we had another view of them. No alteration had taken place, only from some other command they had got the image of the virgin Mary. We need not say that we were much affected with what we had seen. I trust we both returned determined to devote ourselves a fresh to God, and to use every effort in our power to spread the pure Gospel of the son of God, which will banish such superstitions and be the power of God to salvation.